Clerk's report to New York Quarterly Meeting – October 27, 2019

As the weather has been so nice, I considered calling one last beach meeting for the second week of November, but did not out of respect for the invitation we received from Brooklyn meeting to attend the retreat they are having that weekend. We have much appreciated the visits of Brooklyn friends to our meeting. The September beach meeting was the most well attended (pictured below), including visitors both from Brooklyn and from out of town.

We are going to try out a new space for November – Every Thing Goes Book Cafe and Neighborhood Stage in Tompkinsville, a location much closer to the ferry terminal than our previous location at the Y.

In the spirit of Friends,
